The experimental gardens in the northern and western parts of the Himalayas have been established more recently, and the natives are now beginning to take up the cultivation of the plant.

One of the gardens is at Kaologir, about three miles from Dehra, and I visited it in company with Mr. Keene. Mr. Fortune considers that a level alluvial soil, like that of the Dhoon, is not so well adapted for tea as the hilly country about Almorah and in the Punjaub, and if he be correct I did not see the plant in its greatest perfection; though I should think it difficult for any plantation to present a more flourishing appearance than parts of that at Kaologir. It consists of three hundred acres of level gound—a rich, dark... gains plants in every stage... the thick, bushy shrub, six... ming season, and the next

'era una volta,

*in un paese molto lontano,
un re che aveva undici figli maschi e una figlia, Elisa.
I principini conducevano una vita felice: andavano a scuola con la spada al fianco e scrivevano con penne di diamante.
Dal canto suo, la piccola Elisa leggeva su un libro
meraviglioso, che da solo valeva quanto la metà del regno.
Ma presto quella vita felice ebbe fine.*
